General Information

Introduction

This handbook provides guidelines for the minimum requirements for each rank. These guidelines may be modified in part or in whole by the instructor as may be appropriate for any individual student, to accommodate certain physical deficits, to adjust for age, or just based on personal preference of the instructor (Thus the term “guideline”).

These guidelines are designed to provide a set of minimum physical requirements for each rank. The starting point for these requirements is the new techniques to be learned by the student for the new patterns required at each rank.

Instructors Notes

Breaking

Breaking provides excellent feedback to a student in terms of power, focus, trajectory, and striking tool, hand and foot position, and it builds confidence and belief in one’s techniques.

Note that no specific number of boards, bricks, sticks, 2x4s, re-breakables, or other breaking material are specified for the breaking techniques required at each rank. Padding is also not specified but may make sense for certain specific breaks and/or for students with bone structure that may not survive a given break fully intact. It is left up to the student to prepare carefully and safely for each break, slowly building up the amount of breaking material attempted as the student’s skill increases.

It should also be recognized that students vary enormously in body type and in the amount of risk they are willing to assume in their training. Proper high density padding placed in front of the breaking materials, for certain breaks, can greatly reduce the potential danger associated with performing the break without reducing the requirement for excellent technique. In addition, performing a padded break may require even greater power and focus than the same target in un-padded form.

Knowledge

History

Taekwon Do is a hard style martial art that originated in Korea. The father of Taekwon Do, General Choi Hong Hi, had a black belt in Taek Kyon and Karate, thus Taekwon Do is often referred to as Korean Karate. General Choi developed Taekwon Do to be “the scientific use of the body in the method of self defense; a body that has gained the ultimate use of its facilities through intensive physical and mental training.¹”

The literal meaning of Taekwon Do breaks down into: ‘Tae’ means jumping or flying, to kick or smash with the foot; ‘Kwon’ refers to the fist, to punch or destroy with the hand or fist, and ‘Do’ means the art, or way. General Choi named his new art Taekwon Do in 1955, making Taekwon Do one of the newest martial arts in existence today.

Philosophy

Taekwon Do has five tenets and a student oath consisting of five parts.

Tenets: courtesy, integrity, perseverance, self control, and indomitable spirit.
(in Korean, respectively : ye-ui, yom-chi, in-nae, guk-gi, baek-jul bool-gool)

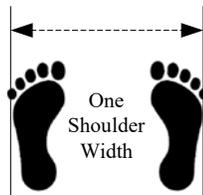

Student oath is:

- I shall observe the tenets of Taekwon-Do.
- I shall respect the instructor and seniors.
- I shall never misuse Taekwon-Do.
- I shall be a champion of freedom and justice.
- I shall build a more peaceful world.²

Stances

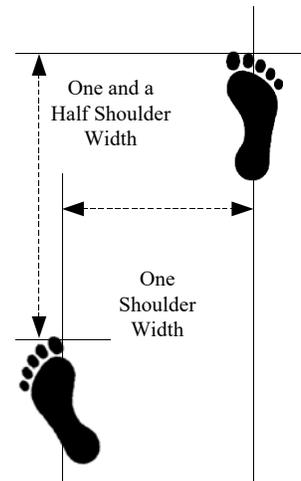

Parallel Ready Stance:

Fists 5 cm apart, 7 cm from abdomen. Elbows 10 cm from ribs.

Walking Stance:

Front of the knee cap lines up vertically with the back of the heel. Rear knee locked straight. The front foot points straight forward and the rear foot can be turned out up to 25 degrees. The stance is named for the front foot. A right walking stance is shown here.

Techniques

Hand Attacks

- Forefist strike (Punch)
- High back fist strike (Back fist strike reaches eye level)
- Outward knife hand strike

Kicks

- Front kick (lead leg, rear leg, stepping)
- Side kick (lead leg, rear leg, stepping)
- Flying front kick
- Combination kicking
- Consecutive kicking

Blocks

- Low block with the outer forearm
- Low block with the knife hand
- Rising block with the outer forearm
- Side block with the knife hand

Hosin Sul

- Elbow-to-Elbow Release
 - From straight across grab to the wrist
 - Pointing releases from straight across grab and cross grab to the wrist
 - Double wrist grab from behind
 - Double grab to the wrists
- Arc Hand Release
 - From below against a straight grab to the wrist
 - From the side against a straight grab to the wrist
 - From a cross grab to the wrist
 - From below against a double grab to both wrists

History

Pattern: Chon-Ji

Pattern history: Chon-Ji means literally “the Heaven the Earth.” It is, in the Orient, interpreted as the creation of the world or the beginning of human history, therefore, it is the initial pattern played by the beginner. This pattern consists of two similar parts; one to represent the Heaven and the other the Earth.³

Pattern diagram: The pattern begins on X facing D.

Pattern number of moves: 19

Rank

There are 10 colored belt ranks, or grades, and 9 black belt ranks, or degrees. From lowest to highest these ranks are:

Grade (gup)	Belt		Degree (dan)	Class
10 th	White		1 st	Novice
9 th	White with Yellow Stripe		2 nd	Novice
8 th	Yellow		3 rd	Novice
7 th	Yellow with Green Stripe		4 th	Expert
6 th	Green		5 th	Expert
5 th	Green with Blue Stripe		6 th	Expert
4 th	Blue		7 th	Master
3 rd	Blue with Red Stripe		8 th	Master
2 nd	Red		9 th	Grand Master
1 st	Red with Black Stripe

Meaning of the belt colors

White-Signifies innocence as that of a beginning student who has no previous knowledge of Taekwon-do.

Yellow-Signifies the earth from which a plant sprouts and takes root as the Taekwon-Do foundation is being laid.

Green-signifies the plant's growth as the Taekwon-Do skill begins to develop.

Blue-Signifies the heaven, towards which the plant matures into a towering tree as training in Taekwon-Do progresses.

Red-Signifies danger, cautioning the student to exercise control and warning the opponent to stay away.

Black-Opposite of white, therefore, signifying the maturity and proficiency in Taekwon-Do. It also indicates the wearer's imperviousness to darkness and fear.

Stances

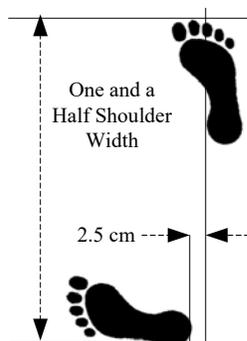

Attention Stance (charyot sogi)

Feet make a 45 degree angle with the heels touching each other.

Fists lightly clenched and naturally at the sides with the elbows very slightly bent.

Bowing is typically performed from Attention Stance. A bow is done by bending about 15 degrees at the waist keeping the hands at the sides and the head aligned with the body. If one is bowing to a senior it is, generally, good etiquette to divert the eyes while bowing and to hold the bow slightly longer than the senior.

L-Stance

L-Stance

The toes of both feet point inward about 15 degrees. The back of the rear knee lines up vertically with the rear foot sword. 70 percent of the weight is supported by the rear foot. The stance is named for the rear foot. A left L stance is shown here.

Techniques

Hand Attacks

Side strike with the front elbow

Downward strike with the knife hand

Kicks

Crescent kick (lead leg, rear leg, stepping)

History

Pattern: Dan-Gun

Pattern history: Dan- Gun is named after the holy Dan-Gun, the legendary founder of Korea in the year of 2,333 B.C.

Pattern diagram: The pattern begins on X facing D.

Pattern number of moves: 21

Philosophy

A martial artist might strive to:

Accept where you are.

Enjoy the journey.

Never be satisfied.⁴

Pattern Speed or Motion

Continuous motion: Two or more techniques can be performed in a continuous motion. Continuous motion techniques are performed with a full breath on each motion but, unlike a regular motion technique, continuous motion techniques does not stop between the techniques.

Anatomy

A basic understanding of the human body is required in the martial arts. This begins with a basic understanding of the skeleton. The major bones are labeled and shown in Appendix A.

Techniques

Hand Attacks

High Punch (Forefist reaches eye level)

Kicks

Side Turning Kick (Ball of foot, instep, knee)

Back Kick

Skip Kicks

Blocks

Middle Guarding Block with the Knife Hand (Fingertip reaches shoulder level)

Pattern: Do-San

Pattern history: Do- San is the pseudonym of the patriot Ahn Chang-Ho (1876-1938). The 24 movements represent his entire life which he devoted to furthering the education of Korea and its independence movement.

Pattern diagram: The pattern begins on X facing D.

Pattern number of moves: 24

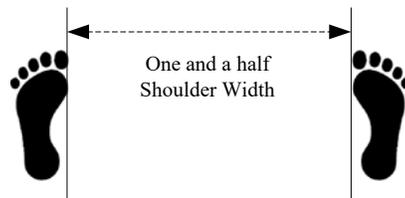

Philosophy

General Choi stated a student should practice Courtesy for reasons that included building a “noble character.” He listed nine elements of courtesy that the student should practice.

- 1) To promote the spirit of mutual concessions
- 2) To be ashamed of one's vices, contempting those of others
- 3) To be polite to one another
- 4) To encourage the sense of justice and humanity
- 5) To distinguish instructor from student, senior from junior, and elder from younger
- 6) To behave oneself according to etiquette
- 7) To respect others' possessions
- 8) To handle matters with fairness and sincerity
- 9) To refrain from giving or accepting a gift when in doubt⁵

Stances

Sitting Stance:

Pattern Speed or Motion

Fast motion: Two or more techniques can be performed in a fast motion. Fast motion techniques are performed with a full breath on each motion but the pause between performing the techniques is as short as possible without performing the techniques as a continuous motion.

Techniques

Hand Attacks

Thrust with straight fingertip

Kicks

- Middle front snap kick (ball of foot reaches solar plexus height)
- Middle side front snap kick

Blocks

History

Pattern: Won-Hyo

Pattern history: Won-Hyo was the noted monk who introduced Buddhism to the Silla Dynasty in the year 686 A.D.

Pattern diagram: The pattern begins on X facing D.

Pattern number of moves: 28

Philosophy

Patterns:

“The beauty of kata [patterns] as a training method is that, in the beginning stages a kata forces you to turn your mind inward. This is quite different from most western sports, where the focus is on some external goal: hit the ball, jump over the bar, run faster than the man in the next lane, and so forth. A kata is different; it has no goal of winning. Even if it is done with a partner, the outcome is fixed. Its only aim is the perfection of the form. Each move is performed according to seitei and it must be perfect.”

“As you practice a kata your instructor will constantly point out mistakes in postures or execution. This forces you constantly to think about yourself. The result is a rapid increase in your kinesthetic sense—you become aware of what each muscle in your body is doing. This awareness, in turn, will result in a corresponding increase in your overall physical and mental coordination⁶.”

The student’s (jeja) responsibility in the Student/Instructor Relationship:

1. Never tire of learning. A good student can learn anywhere, any time. This is the secret to knowledge.
2. A good student must be willing to sacrifice for his art and instructor. Many students feel their training is a commodity bought by monthly dues and are unwilling to take part in demonstrations, teaching and working around the do jang. An instructor can afford to lose this type of student.
3. Always set a good example for lower ranked students. It is only natural they will attempt to emulate senior students.
4. Always be loyal and never criticize the instructor, Taekwon-Do or the teaching methods.
5. If an instructor teaches a technique, practice it and attempt to utilize it.
6. Remember that a student’s conduct outside of the do jang reflects on the art and instructor.

7. If a student adopts a technique from another do jang and the instructor disapproves of it the student must discard it immediately or train at the gym where the technique was learned.
8. Never be disrespectful of the instructor. Though a student may disagree with the instructor, the student must first follow instruction and then discuss the matter later.
9. A student must always be eager to learn and ask questions.
10. Never betray the instructor⁷.

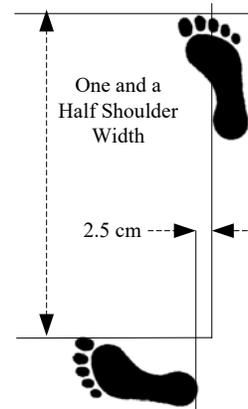

Stances

Closed Ready Stance A

Distance from philtrum to fists is about 30 cm
Fists come up to the level of the philtrum
Arms make a 90 degree angle. Feet are together.

Fixed Stance

Weight distribution is equal on both feet.
The stance is named for the front foot therefore the stance shown in the associated foot drawing is a right fixed stance.

Bending Ready Stance type A

This stance is commonly performed in combination with a guarding block with the forearm. It is a one legged stance and the stance takes the name of the leg bearing the weight. That is, if one is standing on the right foot, then it is a right bending ready stance type A. The non supporting foot is brought to the knee of the supporting leg.

Techniques

Hand Attacks

Inward strike with the knife hand. Bring the side fist of the non striking hand to the opposite shoulder.

Kicks

Middle side kick with high punch
Low front snap kick
Hook kick (Lead leg, rear leg)
Twisting kick
Flying side kick (Jump right kick left)
Flying turning kick (Jump right kick right)

Blocks

Pattern: Yul-Gok

Pattern History: Yul-Gok is the pseudonym of the great philosopher and teacher Yi I (1536 to 1584) nicknamed the “Confucius of Korea”. The 38 movements of this pattern refer to his birthplace on the 38th latitude and the diagram represents Scholar.

Pattern diagram: The pattern begins on X facing D.

Pattern number of moves: 38

Philosophy

A dojo [training studio] is a miniature cosmos where we make contact with ourselves-our fears, anxieties, reactions, and habits. It is an arena of confined conflict where we confront an opponent who is not an opponent but rather a partner engaged in helping us understand ourselves more fully. It is a place where we can learn a great deal in a short time about who we are and how we react in the world. The conflicts that take place inside the dojo help us handle conflicts that take place outside. The total concentration and discipline required to study martial arts carries over to daily life. The activity in the dojo calls on us to constantly attempt new things, so it is also a source of learning-in Zen terminology, a source of self enlightenment.⁸

Stances

X-stance

Both feet point in the same direction. The stance is named for the foot that is flat on the floor. The stance shown in the associated foot drawing is a right X-stance.

Technique

Connecting motion: Two techniques can be performed in a connecting motion. connecting motion techniques are performed in a single breath. Unlike a regular motion technique, connecting motion techniques does not stop between the techniques and the two techniques are performed in a single down-up-down motion of the body.

Techniques

Hand Attacks

Kicks

- Side pushing kick
- Side thrusting kick
- Knee up side kick
- Downward kick (Inward and outward)
- Vertical kick (foot-sword and reverse foot-sword)
- 180 Back kick

Blocks

- Twin knife hand block (Blocking tool of lead hand knife hand comes to shoulder level)
- Palm hooking block
- Double forearm block

Hosin Sul

Shoulder Throw

- From a single arm headlock (choke) from behind (3rd fighting sequence)

- From a collar grab

- From an inward strike with a knife hand (Include “softener”)

Hip Throw

- From an inward strike with the knife hand

- From a double collar grab

Philosophy

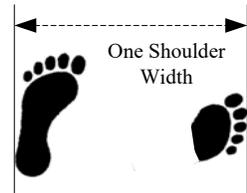

Happiness is a gift and the trick is not to expect it, but to delight in it when it comes. Charles Dickens

Expectation is the devil of peace of mind. In fact, expectation and mushin (no mind) are mutually exclusive. Jonas A. Pologe

Stances

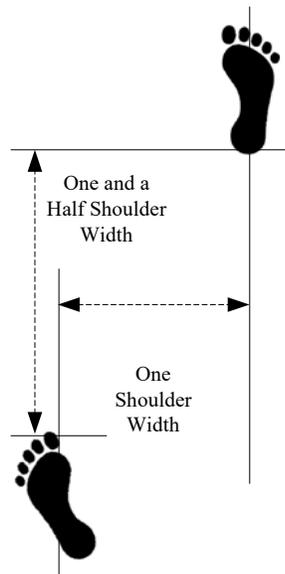

Rear foot stance

Rear foot points inward 15°. Front foot points inward 25°. Weight is mostly on the rear foot. The stance is named for the rear foot. The stance shown in the associated foot drawing is a left rear foot stance.

Low Stance

This stance is one foot's length longer than a walking stance.

Techniques

Hand Attacks

- Upper elbow strike
- Vertical punch with twin fist
- Upset punch with twin fist
- Angle punch

Kicks

- 360 Back Kick
- Reverse turning kick
- Side checking kick
- Front thrusting kick

Blocks

- Upward block with the palm
- Outer forearm block with reverse knife hand
- Rising block with X-fist
- Pressing block with the palm
- U-Shape block

Philosophy

Victims and Participants

People can be arbitrarily divided into two categories, participants and victims. Victims are people to whom things happen. Participants are people who make things happen.

Consider a person riding her, or his, motorcycle who gets hit by a motorist that changes lanes without looking. One could conclude that the driver of the car was at fault, “he should have looked where he was going.” But, of course, the fact remains that it is the motorcyclist who is in the hospital regardless of who was at fault. Consider that perhaps a much more constructive and productive way of looking at the situation is to make the assumption that what ever happens to you on the motorcycle is your own “fault.” While you can not control everything, you may be more likely to be alert and looking for potential problems (and opportunities!) if you take this attitude in life. You might choose to drive so as to be more visible to the cars around you. You might leave more space between you and the surrounding cars. You might choose not to drive next to any given car for an extended length of time because the driver might make a surprise lane change. In this way of thinking, acting, being, you are pushing yourself to be always ready. Zanshin! With this frame of reference you are participating in your present and your future, not just being a victim of circumstance.⁹

Techniques

Hand Attacks

- Low thrust with upset fingertip
- Side back strike with back fist
- High thrust with flat fingertip

Kicks

- Upward kick with knee
- Reverse vertical kick
- Reverse hook kick

Pattern: Choong Moo

Pattern History: Choong Moo was the name given to the great Admiral Yi Soon-Sin of the Yi Dynasty. He was reported to have invented the first armored battleship (kobukson) in 1592, which is said to have been the precursor of the present day submarine. The reason why this pattern ends with a left-hand attack is to symbolize his regrettable death. Checked by the forced reservation of his loyalty to the king, Yi Soon-Sin was given no chance in his lifetime to show his unrestrained potential.

Pattern diagram: The pattern begins on X facing D.

Philosophy

Black Belt and the Dojang

For a black belt the dojang is like a library. The books do not spring open to the pages you need to read, but all the information you need is there. At black belt one has to seek out information and understanding. It is no longer spoon fed to the student as happens more or less at the colored belt ranks.

Obtaining a 1st degree black belt is like graduating from high school. The student has learned the basics only, but is now quite prepared to dive into the heart of the martial art.¹¹

The Instructor's (sabum) responsibility in the Student/Instructor Relationship:¹²

1. Never tire of teaching. A good instructor can teach anywhere, any time and always be ready to answer questions.
2. An instructor should be eager for his students to surpass him; it is the ultimate compliment for an instructor. A student should never be held back. If the instructor realizes his student has developed beyond his teaching capabilities, the student should be sent to a higher ranking instructor.
3. An instructor must always set a good example for his students and never attempt to defraud them.
4. The development of students should take precedent over commercialism. Once an instructor becomes concerned with materialism, he will lose the respect of his students.
5. Instructors should teach scientifically and theoretically to save time and energy.
6. Instructors should help students develop good contacts outside the do jang. It is an instructor's responsibility to develop students outside as well as inside the do jang.

7. Students should be encouraged to visit other do jangs and study other techniques. Students who are forbidden to visit other do jangs are likely to become rebellious. There are two advantages to allowing students to visit other gyms; not only is there a possibility that a student may observe a technique that is ideally suited for him, but he may have a chance to learn by comparing his techniques to inferior techniques.
8. All students should be treated equally, there should be no favorites. Students should always be scolded in private, never in front of the class.
9. If the instructor is not able to answer the student's questions, he should not fabricate an answer but admit he does not know and attempt to find out the answer as soon as possible. All too often, will a lower degree black belt dispense illogical answers to his students merely because he is afraid of "losing face" because he does not know the answer.
10. An instructor should not seek any favors such as cleaning the do jang, doing repair work, etc. from his students.
11. An instructor should not exploit his students. The only purpose of an instructor is to produce both technically and mentally excellent students.
12. Always be honest with students, and never break a trust.

Hosin Sul

Two minutes choreographed barehanded defense routine against one or two armed opponents. Routine must demonstrate a breadth of hosin sul skills along with an understanding of the constraints placed by fighting armed opponents. Striking and blocking techniques should be smoothly integrated with hosin sul skills. Weapons should be knife, club (short staff), or cane. Other weapons may be used at the instructor's discretion. (This is primarily a barehanded defense demonstration. Limited disarming and subsequent use of the weapon should be demonstrated by the testing candidate.)
